

PHD POSITION ENZYME ENGINEERING – HENKEL CONSUMER BRANDS

ABOUT THIS POSITION

Get the opportunity to become part of the global R&D BioScience team

What you'll do

- Enzyme engineering and characterisation of a novel enzyme type for industrial applications
- Active involvement in the development and implementation of high throughput methods of consumer relevant tests
- Own set of responsibilities for a specific project
- Involvement in interdisciplinary collaboration across global R&D

What makes you a good fit

- Master's degree in the fields of biotechnology, biochemistry, molecular biology or related scientific fields
- Practical experience in protein expression, purification and enzymatic analysis
- Experience with in silico enzyme engineering tools is beneficial
- Fluent English language skills, German and other languages are advantageous
- Strong communication and analytical skills
- Self-motivated, with high level of self-organization to handle projects independently
- Creative problem-solving skills and great attention to details

Job Locations: Germany, North Rhine Westphalia, Düsseldorf

Contact information for application-related questions:

fabian.falkenberg@henkel.com

At Henkel, we come from a broad range of backgrounds, perspectives, and life experiences. We believe the uniqueness of all our employees is the power in us. Become part of the team and bring your uniqueness to us! We welcome all applications across different genders, origins, cultures, religions, sexual orientations, generations and disabilities. If there are any specific accommodations or adjustments you require for the interview process or your on-site appointment, please inform us, and we'll do our best to accommodate your requests.